

Tony Woodward, DVM

Tony has been involved in veterinary practice in Colorado and Montana since 1981. During that time, he has owned six practices ranging from equine/small animal to small animal dental specialty practice. He is board certified in veterinary dentistry by the American Veterinary Dental College and is currently operating a dental practice in Bozeman. He has lectured internationally on veterinary dentistry, has averaged over 30 lectures/labs a year for the last 16 years, and is the co-founder of the first veterinary dental teleradiology service, VetDentalRad.com. Tony has taught thousands of veterinarians how to improve dental care in their patients and is past president of the Colorado Veterinary Medical Association. He has lived in Bozeman part-time beginning in 2012 and full-time beginning in 2016. He is an avid fly fisherman, hiker, backpacker, rock collector, skier and pretty much any other outdoor activity you can think of. His yellow lab, Bella, accompanies him almost everywhere. His two children, Tyler and Melissa, live and work in Monument, CO.
